First Chapel Very Spirited

Short Address Given by Prominent Students and Faculty

The opening chapel service of the year was held last Wednesday at 11 A. M. For the first time since the days of the S. A. T. C. the room could not seat all comers, altho its capacity is nine hundred. Dr. Alely led the exercises with the assistance of Prof. Sprague as leader of the singing. Dr. Alely announced that the usual custom of a lengthy speech would not be followed, but that several Maine men would each make a few remarks.

The first of these was Prexy Monahan, who spoke on University customs and traditions. He told of their gradual change for the better. To work, live and fight clean has always been held a sacred custom at Maine, and all those who come to Maine are supposed to be seeking an education, for Maine men and women are students. The freshman hat, is far from being a sign of degradation. On the contrary, one should be proud of the badge of his class and college. He explained the custom of saying "hello" to every Maine man, which is unique with this college.

Coach Baldwin Gives Squad Stiff Workout

The passing of the first week of the semester finds the football squad hard at work and well advanced toward the goal, a Maine championship team. Equipment was issued the first of last week and practice started at that time. Practice is held every afternoon from three to six with blackboard talks in the evening by the coach. Coach Baldwin, whose athletic career is given in another column, has created a very favorable impression both on the football squad and spectators by his efficient handling of the squad.

For a foundation, the team has the services of Beverley '20, end, Green '20, center, Coady '21, halfback, Young '21, halfback, Fuery '20, quarterback, Courtney '20, fullback, MacGee '22, tackle, Quinn '22, tackle, Ginsberg '21, quarterback, all veterans of former Maine teams. New Head for R. O. T. C.

Capt. James Ordered Here by War Department

The military department at the university has been very fortunate in having Capt. Luther R. James ordered here by the War Department as professor of Military Science and Tactics. Capt. James reported here Sept. 14, and has been on duty from that date.

During the war Captain James held the emergency commission of Colonel in the 141 Infantry and spent six months overseas.

Lt. H. M. Smith is still on duty here. Plans have been made for eight companies. The total number expected to take military will be about six hundred. Requisition has been authorized for three hundred uniforms and equipment. At present there are uniforms and equipment for three hundred men at the university. Three hundred new, model 1917 rifles, four Browning automatic rifles and four Browning water cooled machine guns together with full equipment of ammunition have been received. Special regulation 44 taking place of regulation 49 has been received which promises almost unlimited inducements to men taking advanced courses in R. O. T. C.

Men in the Naval Reserve Corps may be discharged from the navy in order to join the R. O. T. C. Men in the Reserve Officers' Corps may take military but can not be enlisted as regular R. O. T. C. men. Provision is made for computation of rations which is forty cents per day for two years. At the end of this time it provides for a commission in the Reserve Officers' Corps with temporary assignment with the regular army for six months.

The R. O. T. C. summer camp at Devens this year was very successful. It was attended by three members of the University R. O. T. C. and Lt. H. M. Smith of the University. The camp

Y. W. C. A. Have New Rest Room

Will be Opened Very Soon for the Co-eds

At last our dream has come true, and we actually have it. Have what? Why, a Y. W. rest room, of course.

For a long time the young women of the University have wanted a room that they could call their own. The need has been felt especially by those living off the campus, and has become more urgent than ever, this year, because of the record-breaking registration.

To meet this need, the University of Maine has offered a room in Fernald Hall. Improvements are already being made, and the room will be partially furnished by the University itself.

The Passing of Cinderella

THE quaint little childhood tale of the poor kitchen maid is not so far removed from recent reality.

For we all recall the staggering piles of dishes, the dust-strewn floor, the tubs of clothes, the treadmill task at the sewing machines! Yes, Cinderella-like was the housework of yesterday.

And now, the girl of 1920 looks to electricity—most tractable of hand-maidens—as the fairy prince who makes life easier and fuller.

Just a push of the button—and tiny electric motors sweep, wash dishes or clothes; clean, scour and polish; make ice or ice cream, run the sewing machine and play the piano or phonograph.

While the motors do the work, other electric appliances are distributed about the house to make good living more convenient. Electric cooking utensils, hair driers, cigar lighters, burglar alarms, door bells, and furnace regulators, are now operated by the magic wand of electric power.

The development of the miniature motors for the kitchen and electrical devices was made possible by the rapid progress in experience gained by the General Electric Company's Engineers, whose efforts in the application of electricity for every sort of industrial endeavor during the past quarter century have brought freedom from the drudgery of other days.

First Chapel Very Spirited

In his usual energetic way "Squirt" Lingley '20 told of the cross-country and track plans and hopes. We should make a special attempt this year to defend our past successful cross-country championship and with so large an entering class we might expect some good material out for training, but that this could be accomplished only by hard serious work. Whether or not you may have run elsewhere, if you have any ability, get out and try. Anyway, Maine does not care where you came from, but only what you can do.

"Jack" Green '20 took us back to 1915, known as clean-up year, and expressed the hope of a repetition of that historical year. "Second teams in football are just as necessary as a first team," he said, urging the new men to keep up the football practice.

Johnnie Walker '20 explained the blanket tax and the privileges gained by paying it. It admits to four games of football, a fall subscription to the "Campus" and a vote in the A. A. The Glee Club and Maine Masque are to reorganize this year and will be better than ever, but this depends on the men to come out for them.

Waterman '20 urged support of the athletic clubs. The "M" Club is to conduct several enterprises for making money, such as a laundry and a baggage transfer. Patronize them.

The general Alumni Association has a secretary with us this year in the person of "Pep" Towner '14 a former track man of the University. "College," he stated, "presents the opportunities and forms the friendships of a lifetime. If we do not take advantage of these opportunities for leadership and these friendships, we are missing a best part of college life." The alumni, at a recent conference, agreed that more attention should be given their Alma Mater, and are expressing the idea in action this year by sending us a secretary.

Some unusually good thoughts were expressed at this first chapel. It is up to every one of us to see that he does his part in making them more than ideas.

At the close it was announced that owing to the large registration, dormitory reservations should be cancelled in case other arrangements have been made.

Night-Shirt Parade Occurs

the fraternity houses and by the time the parade reached the campus there was a small army of pajama clad freshmen, who were kindly shown over the route by the noble Class of '22.

Many difficulties were found when the line reached the Egyptian excavations on the campus. Three of the poor little freshmen suddenly discovered themselves of the earth, however there were no fatal injuries, one of the injured said that he was all right except for a lame leg, sore head, and a funny feeling inside.

The remainder of the parade was already drawn up in company front before Oak Hall and as the parade passed, fell in on the end of the far stretched line. At this place a halt was called, in order that the freshmen might exercise their lungs in learning how to cheer. The cheering was fair and it is hoped that they will improve in time.

The cry then was, "On to Balentine," and the army of white wings marched through the campus, making enough noise to wake up Orono, and that means it was sure some noise.

At Balentine the customary speeches and proposing were carried out to the great enjoyment of the fair co-eds.

From Balentine the grand array went to Mount Vernon where similar stunts were performed. Two of the white clad babies were lifted up on the roof, and upon reaching there, became coaxed over their high position in life that they would not come down and mingle with the rabble.

After the usual leading of the freshmen through the Valley of Death, the parade was dismissed and all went home, tired but happy, the sophomores happy over the good time; the freshmen happy that it was over.

M. C. A. Handbooks

This year an added feature is the Roll of Honor which contains the names of all graduates and undergraduates of the University who died in the service or who distinguished themselves during the war.

The committee of the 1919-1920 handbook has Potter '20 for chairman and Kennison '22 as assistant.

In the handbook is an account of the Athletic Association and the Blanket Tax. Maine's championship and Intercollegiate records are shown. The officers and schedules of the athletic teams are also given.

Several pages are devoted to the M. C. A.—its purpose, officers, and program which includes many activities.

There is a list and description of the various clubs and societies of the University—departmental clubs, student organizations such as the glee and dramatic clubs, fraternities, sororities, and honorary societies.

There is an interesting account of the Library, and the rules and regulations concerning the books.

There is also a place to keep one's class schedule, ranks for each semester, and a line-a-day diary.

Every student should have one of these attractively bound little volumes which may be had for the asking, and which will prove useful during the whole college year.

THE DIFFERENCE.—He—"What's the difference between a gown and a creation?"

The team this year will not be as heavy as some past Maine teams and the presence of many fast men will result in the building up of a fast, shifty team.

The first game of the schedule comes on Oct. 4 with Fort McKinley at Orono. The home game of the State Series will be played with Bowdoin on Nov. 6. The usual game with the Army at West Point has been arranged.

The authorized schedule, announced by Manager Ham, is given at the head of this column.

Reardon '19 Athletic Director in Old Town

Soon after the declaration of war, Jerry enlisted in the Navy and was stationed at Rockland until he received his discharge to enter Plattsburg, where upon graduating he won a first lieutenant's commission in November. From that time until the next June he was in charge of the physical work at Devens, and while at Atlanta, Ga., at the Atlanta School of Technology he took charge of the vocational work. In January of the present year he received his honorable discharge and returned to Maine.

In June at the graduating exercises Jerry won the Hamilton Watch for being the best all round good fellow and one who had in the opinion of the seniors done the most for the college during the four years. He was a member of the Sophomore Owls, Junior Masks, Senior Skulls, being president of the latter society. He was a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Jerry comes as no stranger to Old Town for he coached the basketball team successfully during the years 1915 and 1916 and was the factor in developing the championship team of the high school in '16. For two seasons he played on the strong Bangor A. A.'s and during the past Summer has been playing base ball on the Penobscot Chemical Fibre team at Great Works.

THE DELAYS OF DEMOBILIZATION.—"Well, Bill, what are you going to do when you gets demobilized?"

"Live on me pension, of course."

"You don't think yer goin' to get a pension from the Army, do yer?"

"No, not Army—Old Age Pension, I mean."—London Opinion.

EQUALS.—He—"Your cousin refused to recognize me at the Jazz last night; thinks I'm not his equal, I suppose."

She—"Ridiculous! Of course you are; why he's nothing but a conceited idiot."—Blighty (London).

A JOKE ON "DOC"

The Red Cross doctor was examining a doughboy who had been badly wounded in both hands.

The boy surveyed his injured members ruefully.

"Do you think I'll be able to play the piano when I get well?" he asked.

"Certainly you'll be able to play the piano," said the doctor emphatically.

"That's funny," remarked the soldier, "I never could play one before."

CUTTING IT SHORT.—"Don't be so long-winded in your reports as you have been in the past," said the manager of the "Wild West" railway to his overseer. "Just report the condition of the track as ye find it, and don't put in a lot of needless words that ain't to the point. Write a business letter, not a love-letter."

A few days later the railway line was badly flooded, and the overseer wrote his report to the manager in one line:

"Sir—Where the railway was the river is.—Yours faithfully, ———."—Blighty (London).
